- a. An International Application is considered equivalent to Early Decision, and therefore applicants, once accepted, are not allowed to apply to other majors either within CNU or at other schools under a regular decision plan or any other.
※Students who are accepted to multiple colleges under Early Decision plans must choose one college to register with. An acceptee student registering with more than one college at once will have his/her acceptances revoked and his/her registrations cancelled.
※'Acceptee' here means one who has been accepted to a college, regardless of whether he/she plans to attend the college or not.
- b. Acceptees who do not submit legal documentation of financial ability or who are disqualified by the financial ability review will have their acceptances revoked.
- c. The applicant must put down accurate working contact information on his/her application form. During the application period, admissions officers may need to contact candidates. Problems or mistakes that arise from indefinite or incorrect contact information are deemed the applicant's responsibility.
- d. If contact information as written on the application form changes, the applicant must report any changes to the Admissions Office.
- e. The applicant must carry his admission ticket and ID with him/her at all times and be prepared to present it at interviews and tests to verify identity.
- f. When the admission ticket is lost, the student must submit a photograph identical to the one attached to the application form to the Admissions Office and have the admission ticket reissued.
- g. In the case that the application form has been falsified or the applicant has gained admission through plagiarism or other such negative means, the applicant will have his/her acceptance and/or registration revoked.
- h. CNU is not well-equipped with facilities and programs for special-needs or special-education individuals, and it is suggested that the applicant keep this fact in mind when applying to CNU.

- i. When it is deemed that an applicant's scholastic level is not up to the standards required by the major, the applicant may be rejected regardless of whether the quota has been filled or not.

[However, in special cases where the characteristics of a certain field of study absolutely necessitate a limited pool of students, the practice of this rule may be limited]

2. Double-Majoring

Students may embark on a second major (at the end of freshman year) in addition to the major they originally applied to.

[However, double majors may not be undertaken by students of Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, Veterinary Medicine, Pre-Veterinary Medicine, Pre-Medicine, Architecture, Law, Painting, Sculpture, and Industrial Art, and even outside of such fields, a second major may be additionally discouraged when the demands of a student's original coursework prohibits the pursuit of a double major]
